HOLIDAY ARRESTS IN SHERIFF'S RECORDS

(From Tuesday's Daily)

The Fourth of July week-end yielded its usual quota of violators of the laws requiring sobriety. Eight persons were arrested by city policemen or deputy sheriffs of the county between midnight Saturday and noon yesterday, and lodged in jail on various misdemeanor charges or on charges of possessing liquor. One was arrested by a federal prohibition enforcement officer for violation of the national prohibition act.

Tom Chong, a Chinaman, was taken into custody at 6:45 o'clock Saturday evening by Federal Officer Kent for alleged violation of the prohibition act, and lodged in jail. Shortly after midnight Saturday, H. Montano was arrested by City Policeman Bassett and charged with fighting. About an hour later, City Policeman Carl Lamberton walked into the sheriff's office with Joe Garry in tow. Garry was locked up at 1:10 on a charge of being drunk.

Among the week-end's list of arrests were two Indians and two women, all charged with drunkenness. Jim Siger and Ben Fachetchg were taken into custody at 8:50 o'clock Sunday by Tom Hudgens, formerly city marshal of Jerome, who recently returned to this county from California. They were charged with being drunk and fighting.

The women arrested were Fay Wells, taken into custody at 12:30 Sunday night by City Policeman Bassett and charged with a misdemeanor, and Nellie Jordan, arrested at 1:40 o'clock yesterday by Deputy Sheriff George Payne and charged with the illegal possession of alcoholic liquor. Joe Carlson was arrested at 3:10 yesterday in a charge of drunkenness, by Policeman Bassett, who also arrested Jess Bayers at 12:30 on a misdemeanor charge. The women were released yesterday.

Today's Fashion Note

An unusually attractive version of the two-piece suit. The straight-line dress of fine serge takes for its companion a jacket which has flowing sleeves and convertible collar. A cut band finishes the lower edge of the jacket and remains partly unstitched to provide pockets. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards 54-inch material.

Hints to Young Cooks

TAKING CARE OF YOUR FOOD

"Ice is cheap but food costs money" advertises an ice manufacturer. There is a world of common sense and a worthwhile message to every housekeeper in this slogan, which might very truthfully have added "A cake of ice a day keeps the Doctor away." Both from the standpoint of economy and that of health, take care of your food.

Many of us have too often experienced the necessity of throwing away quantities of food which could have been used if kept with care.

Again, there is the danger of serving food which appears perfectly pure but proves to be slightly tainted. No woman would attempt to serve food which she knew to be spoiled but the greatest trouble is that many sorts of supplies become tainted and may acquire impurities in such a way that the housekeeper would never suspect it.

Ordinary milk is one food which very easily spoils. It must be kept on ice and tightly covered because germs that lodge in milk multiply with startling rapidity. Evaporated milk is an exception to this because it is absolutely pure and is in hermetically sealed tins. The baby size tins give just the right quantity for making a cake or a creamed dish with nothing left over to spoil.

It will keep even better if, by punching two small vents in the top to open the tin. The milk will film over the holes as soon as you have used it and will seal it air tight.

One should not dust or sweep when open food is on the table or when the table is set for a meal. Germs are very easily tracked in on one's feet and their distribution in that way could cause serious illness.

If fats or sweets are left about, ants and flies are sure to find them, and there are flies in the best regulated houses. Fats are wonderful absorbers of odors and will absorb germs just as quickly.

Keep the bread box clean. Old crumbs get mouldy and will spoil good food.

Keep your refrigerator clean and well iced. If it is not clean it will be a breeding place for germs and do more harm than good. A refrigerator should be thoroughly washed and scalded once a week, and special attention should be given to the corners and the drain pipe.

No place is quite so warm as a refrigerator without ice. And don't forget ice is cheaper than food and the Doctor's bills. Keep it iced for the sake of health and pocket book.

SUMMER DESERTS EASILY MADE

Boiled Custard
One can of Alpine milk diluted with one pint of water, 4 or 5 eggs, pinch of salt, 3 tablespoonfuls sugar. Scald the diluted milk, mix part of it with eggs beaten with sugar, turn back into the rest of milk, cook until it thickens which will be when foam disappears from top; cover and cool, then add flavoring. Or whites of eggs may be reserved, beaten to a foam and added to custard after straining; must be stirred in thoroughly.

Tapioea Custard
Put two tablespoonfuls fine tapioea in double boiler with 1 Baby Size tin of Alpine Milk to which has been added 1/2 pint water, cook and stir until tapioea is transparent. Add yolks of 2 eggs beaten with 3 tablespoonfuls sugar and pinch of salt. Stir till thickened. Add whites whipped to stiff froth, stir lightly three minutes; take from fire; add flavoring when cooled. If pearl or lump tapioea is used it must be soaked in cold water for several hours before cooking.
